A CASE WITH LOCAL ANGLES

A Suit Involving Broker Politz' Sugar Stock Transactions.

(Special to the Advertiser.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26.—The Chronicle has the following concerning certain suits in which Edward Politz is interested, and in which Hawaiian sugar stocks are at stake:

The validity of the regulation in the State constitution by which sales of stock on margins or for future delivery is prohibited and the recovery of money paid on such sales is provided for has been challenged in suits brought by Bernhard R. Banning and Clara H. Banning against Edward Politz and Henry St. George, who are in partnership as stock brokers. Large amounts are at stake in these actions. Politz & Co. have as their attorneys Heller & Powers, Deal, Tausky & Wells, and A. A. Moore, who say in answers to the complaints of the Bannings that the claim in each suit is based on this provision in section 26 of article IV of the State constitution, and that the provision is void, as it is in conflict with the United States constitution. They maintain that it is not in accord with the fourteenth amendment of the Federal constitution, which takes property without due process of law and prevents citizens from having equal protection. They say that the prohibition in the section referred to is not confined to gambling in stocks, but covers also legitimate business transactions. The answers were filed yesterday in the Superior Court.

Recently Judge Trout decided against a broker on account of this constitutional provision, and gave judgment for the amount paid on margins. The provision, he remarked, was inserted in the constitution because of the gambling which prevailed in mining stocks, but nevertheless is applied to stocks of all corporations.

In one action Banning sued for $20,000, for which amount 750 shares of Honolulu Sugar Company stock were sold. In another he seeks to recover 400 shares of Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company stock and $3,200, which was collected as dividends on this stock. The brokers say that Banning owed them $88,000 on February 26, 1900, and that by his direction they sold the Honolulu stock and credited him with $20,000. The Hawaiian stock was deposited with them to cover margins. They claim that Banning now owes them $68,270.68, and ask judgment for that amount. Clara H. Banning sued in one action for $22,500 and 1,200 shares of Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company stock, and in another for 400 shares of that stock. All of these shares were placed with Politz & Co. to cover margins. The brokers ask for judgment against her for $62,450.10, which her account shows she owes, and they ask in each case that the stock left with them be sold to meet the judgment they demand.
